Town Meetings wrap up

Woodstock nixes tighter shoreland zoning rules

By WENDY HANSCOM

Woodstock residents voted Monday night to continue term limits on planning board members and turned down a new shoreland zoning map with tougher development restrictions.

After a lengthy debate, voters rejected the Planning Board's proposal to change an area along the western shore of Lake Christopher (from near the former Stowell Mill site to just past Milton Mills' residence) from the state-mandated "limited commercial development" to strictly "residential development."

Planning Board Chairman Margaret Hand said the Planning Board recommended the change in order to make zoning along the entire lake consistent.

Hand said both types of zoning require 100-foot setbacks from the lake's shore.

"It's not fair to people on one side of the lake to have a different type of zoning than those on the other side," Hand reasoned.

Former Planning Board member Lloyd Poland said the zoning change was too restrictive.

Gilead opts to 'pass over' mandatory recycling plan

By WENDY HANSCOM

Gilead residents chose not to vote Saturday on whether or not to make recycling mandatory for residents, but instead passed over the article.

Several Town Meeting participants questioned the legality of the selectmen's proposal to forbid residents the use of the transfer station if they refused to recycle.

"Just what are they suppose to do with their trash then," asked Wayne Taylor.

"That would be their problem, because they didn't abide by the town rules," replied selectman Fernand Corriveau. "Most of the people are recycling. There are few who don't bother to do what they're asked to."

Corriveau said the selectmen had planned to issue one warning to non-recycling residents, then assess a $50 fine and/or forbid the use of the station on the second offense.

Discussion of the proposal was brief. Voters then opted unanimously to pass over the article.

But transfer station costs passed.

With some grumbling about the state mandate that closed the town's landfill on Dec. 31, voters also approved $11,400 to set up and maintain a new transfer station.

Townpeople also approved $5,339 for the first payment on a long-term note for the purchase of 28 acres from Boise Cascade.

The land abuts the town's old landfill and temporary transfer station site. The town will relocate the transfer station onto a parcel of the property.

A small group of voters tried to cut the town's Fire Department

It all boils down to sweet springtime

By JEANNE BOELSMA

Keith and Shirley Hodsdon were area hosts for this year's Maine Maple Sunday at Running Brook Farm in West Bethel. Tim and Jo-Ann Korhonen spent the day giving sleigh rides out into the sugarbush, where everyone got a chance to see the tapped trees and even try a taste of sap. About 150 people turned out for the event, enjoying the beautiful weather, sleigh rides, and fresh maple syrup on ice cream.

The Hodsdons started sugaring about 14 years ago at their remote sporting camp in the Greenville area. They collected sap in buckets with a horse-drawn sleigh. Keith boiled down the syrup on a small homemade evaporator outside their camp. They served the syrup to their guests on pancakes throughout the season.

The Hodsdons started sugaring in West Bethel about four years ago. Keith now puts out about 700 taps, both in West Bethel and Mason Township. He collects sap one or two times daily, depending on how fast it is running. While he still uses some buckets, most of his taps are now on tubing. The sap runs through plastic tubing down to a collection tank at the roadside.

According to Keith, the season has gotten off to a slow start. Most of March was too cold, and when it finally did get warm, it got too warm.

Ideal weather for sugaring is when the temperature drops below freezing at night, and gets sunny and in the 40s during the day. Another factor this year is the deep snow, which acts as an insulator and keeps the tree's roots frozen.

But despite the slow start, Hodsdon is optimistic that the next few weeks will provide the right weather for sugaring.

After collecting the sap and bringing it back to the sugarhouse, he pumps it into a holding tank about six feet above the level of the evaporator. The sap is then gravity fed into the wood fired evaporator and boiled down into syrup.

Hodsdon burns about seven cords of wood in an average season. It takes about 40 gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup. The final step is the finishing of the syrup. This step is the most critical because the syrup has to be exactly the right consistency.

Keith uses a hydrometer to check the density of the syrup, and when it is at the exact level, he quickly draws the syrup off and immediately puts it through a strainer. He then grades the syrup according to Maine State Standards, bottles, and labels it. The Hodsdons sell their syrup at their farm, at the Bethel Farmers Market, and at Shirley's Craft Store located at Mountain Greenery in West Bethel.

Enraged Rileyites draw line in the mud

- Volunteers prepare for long siege
- Warn Newry: Don't shred on me!

To the cry of "No taxation without condonation," Riley residents stormed from their annual Town Meeting Saturday and took to the barricades.

Cheering volunteers piled slash, fish shacks, stolen ski-trail signs and selected white goods across the lone roadway connecting Riley with Newry, an adjacent town that had proposed annexing the unorganized township in order to pilfer its taxes.

(The Riley Town Meeting had been moved up from its usual date of April 1 in order to head off a rumored preemptive strike from across the town line.)

As armed residents stood guard at the barricades, a blackout was imposed, a schedule of watches set, patrols sent out to scout for advancing Newry forces, and divers dispatched to attach explosive charges to the pilings of the Twin Bridges.

The residents were resolute. "This is my cabin fever reliever," warned First Selectman Bingo Green, brandishing a shotgun atop the redoubt. "I'll give them a mini-course in anti-YUPPY imperialism."

Temper had been short (and feelings hurt) in the township since July, when New Hampshire spurned Riley's offer to secede from Maine and become part of the Granite State.

New Hampshire authorities had initially encouraged the "Jus Be Coos" campaign. ("Though we'd rather get Kittery," they admitted.) And after lengthy discussions with township leaders, NH negotiators agreed to waive the only apparent obstacle to the annexation--NH's minimum-B&Bs-per-hectare requirement.

But the deal fell through in July, following Riley's last minute demand that the state's motto, "Live Free or Die," be modified to "Ski Free or Die Trying."

Stung by NH's humiliating rejection, Rileyites turned their anger on Newry--when they learned of the town's proposal to annex the township without offering any compensation to its residents.

The plan had been repeatedly denied by publicity-wise Newry officials, but last month Eustis Earl, the township's resident computer hacker, managed to patch into high-tech communications monitors in Andover and was able to read electronic mail between the Newry Town Office and Augusta.

What he learned threw the township into turmoil.

Earl's intercepts revealed that for months Newry officials had been secretly working to broker a complicated deal between state and local business leaders and national environmental groups--a deal that would allow Newry to annex Riley (and its taxes when Sunday River expands), and would split the township into two distinct development zones. (Newry is the only town in this area to already have a bald-faced zoning plan.)

Better left alone than zoned Newry's proposal called for zoning the area between Jordan Brook and Sunday River as a "free-market/free-fire zone," with no growth-management or environmental regulations whatever.

"We have faith in the magic of the marketplace to protect the environment," said Newry environmental consultant Jim "we-had-to-clearcutit-to-save-it" Watt. "We Republicans understand these things. Just trust us."

The plan also called for the lower Sunday River valley to be dammed, in order to create a 1,000-acre snow-making pond.

The remainder of the township, to the west, would be designated the nation's first Paleo-preserve.

Property in the Paleo-zone would be taken by the government upon the demise of its current owners, and the area would be allowed to revert to the primal conditions that existed following the retreat of the last Ice-Age glacier--before the invasion of foreign forms of life such as mammals and trees.

The Paleo-zone designation had been insisted upon by an out-of-state environmental group, We're Wiping Out America's Heritage! (WWOAH!), which had learned of Newry's plans and threatened to tie the annexation proposal up with legal appeals unless the designation was included.

(Research note: WWOAH! is a shadowy group on the extreme left of the environmental movement, part of the so-called Gray Fringe. The Grays have called for restoration of as much of the planet as possible to bare rock. They are harshly critical of the more moderate Greens' "chlorocentric discrimination.")

Mall dreams dashed

The Paleo-ozone designation came as devastating shock to members of the Riley Chamber of Commerce, who, having failed in earlier attempts to attract a tire dump or bingo hall to the township, had set their sights on luring a Mall-Wart Department Store.

Chamber members hoped the national discount store would serve as an anchor store around which town merchants could set up a variety of niche-market specialty shops.

Local entrepreneurs already spend much of their winters producing skidder tire planters, methane-fueled bug zappers, and a variety of specialty foods based on traditional road-kill recipes.

But markets for their goods were bad.

"We're dying out here now," admitted Lee Colli, owner of Sam & Ella's Quik Trattoria. "No one can earn a living off lost mountain bikers, and there ain't even been many of them since that Portland lawyer got et by a bobcat.

"But if we could get us a Mall-Wart then we'd suck the socks right off those Bethel boutiques, with their trick sticks and knock a block ginimics."

In fact, zoning of whatever form is a fighting word to members of the Riley business community--who can recognize a Commy plot when they see one.

Their instinctive skepticism had been reinforced by nearby instances of zoning in action--for example, the Bethel Planning Board's recent ruling that all buildings repainted in the village have to be done in acceptable "trout colors"--pastel pinks and blues (with the brighter "spawning trout colors" reserved for bars and restaurants).

Armed and ready

In the early hours Sunday morning, as they crouched behind the barricades and awaited the breaking of an uncertain dawn, the Riley volunteers put on determined faces. But their nerves were clearly on edge, especially as rumors grew of an imminent pinser movement being prepared in Newry.

According to a Riley mole working undercover at the Peak Restaurant, defenders would first be "softened up" with a six-hour barrage from more than 200 long-range snowguns.

German ski instructors would then begin the actual attack with a blitzkrieg of telemarksmen swooping down from Aurora Peak.

That initial thrust would be followed up by massed formations of

Bethel budgeteers cutting back on selectmen's proposed increase

The Bethel Budget Committee was expected to complete its review of the town's fiscal 1994 budget at a meeting on Tuesday evening.

The budgeteers' recommendations will go back to the selectmen for a final review Monday. Both committees' recommendations will then go before voters at the annual Town Meeting in June.

At an earlier meeting Monday (March 29), the Budget Committee focused on the $183,000 Capital Improvement Plan submitted by the selectmen, opting to cut the entire $30,000 recommended for the salt-sand fund, to cut $14,000 from the $74,000 recommended for town roads, and to eliminate the $5,000 the selectmen had wanted to put aside toward the eventual purchase of a new copying machine for the town office.

The selectmen's budget draft, exclusive of school and county taxes, called for a 13.7 percent ($152,227) increase from the previous year.

On Monday evening the Budget Committee members were clearly torn between the need to fund the

BOMB ACTIONS CORRECT

To the Editor:

As I sat reading the Bethel Citizen this week I ran across a letter to the editor which was disturbing to me to read. I feel as an employee of SAD 44 I have watched each bomb threat and that the teachers and administration have done a good job at evacuating the building and ensuring proper safety for each and every student. I feel credit should be given to each one who helped with this situation.

I was at the board meeting on Monday, March 21. Chief Bellman did an excellent job in answering questions about this matter. Let's give credit instead of criticism to these people. If these threats continue and you feel unsure about your child's safety you have the right to go and pick up your child. Everyone involved is doing a great job and let's give them some credit.

POLICE NEED OUR SUPPORT

To the Editor:

In this day and age, and in this "growing" resort town of Bethel, it is becoming very disappointing listening to the negative attitudes that are directed toward our local law enforcement.

It is apparent that there are people out there that feel "who needs them!" (Maybe they have something to hide.) However, on the other hand, there are those who feel "Thank God they were there!"

Being a "cop" is a very big job with very few rewards.

It is a job that requires an extreme amount of dedication. It is not a 9 to 5 job. A police officer is always on duty, even if they are "off" having a picnic with their family. They are forever watchful of anything that "just doesn't look right." They live for their job, and if they are lucky, their job will let them live.

They operate on budgets that are cut each year. Yet, somehow, they manage to get by and do their job—"To Protect and To Serve." And believe it or not, they do care! They care about each person they come in contact with; whether the person is in trouble, or causing trouble. They want to help in any way they can. And they are only a phone call away.

But they need your help. You, the citizens of Bethel, have a full-time police department. You are paying taxes for a full-time police department. They want to be there for you 24 hours a day, because they care about you. They do not want you to have to wait an hour for a police officer when you need one immediately. When you are in trouble or in danger, they want to protect and serve you. Immediately.

Maybe, so far, you have not needed one. But wouldn't it be comforting to know that if and when you do need one, they will be there—probably within minutes, not hours.

In ending, I am pleading with each and every one of you; go to this year's Town Meeting and fight for your right to be protected 24 hours a day. The life you save may be your own.

They (the police) want to help you, but without your support, they may not be able to.

TERRI-LYNN SAYS THANKS

To the Editor:

My name is Terri-Lynn Perry. I wrote to The Citizen in December about having cancer. As I stated, what I have is a very rare type of cancer. I am going to Boston for all of my treatment. The doctors in Boston stated I am the sixth case that they have seen in 15 years. They don't know the cause of this type of cancer. It is very rare. As my doctors have told me, it is like getting hit by lightning.

Having cancer has changed my life in a lot of ways. My eating habits, certain smells bother me, loss of my hair. It was hard at the beginning.

After surgery I had chemo. That was the hardest experience that I've ever been through. I was in the hospital for a total of 80 days or more. I was in so much that I knew all the nurses on the floor and their whole life. My nurses and doctors have been wonderful to me. I keep a positive attitude all the time. I look at my life as being a setback now.

My doctors told me about three weeks ago I still had some live cancer cells. I have to go through surgery again. I'm not too happy about this but as I stated I keep that positive attitude and my attitude is to be around longer. What I have gone through I wouldn't wish on my worst enemy.

Going through this tragedy in my life, my family and friends have been by my side. I haven't seen some of my friends from Maine for a long time but they all remember me and keep me in their prayers.

Since I'll be going for surgery March 25 my parents planned a trip for me to go to Disney World. The townspeople heard about my trip and wanted to be a part of it. They all got together and had a collection to make my trip wonderful for me. My mom and dad told me what they had done. I couldn't believe it at first. I cried. I want you all to know I want to thank all of you. My trip has been great.

As I'm writing this letter I'm in Florida in my room. I wanted to write to all of you before my surgery to let you know what I'm doing and going through right now in my life and to say thank you to all of you to make my trip with my family special for me. Life is sweet and precious. All my days are wonderful and special. Having friends and family like all of you makes my days special.

If anyone would like to write to me while being in the hospital the address is: Terri Lynn Perry, N.E. Medical Center, Farnsworth 2, 750 Washington St., Boston, Mass., 02111.

Terri-Lynn Perry
Boston, Mass.

PERRYS SAY THANKS

To the Editor:

We would like to thank all of our friends and Bethel residents for all of their help towards our daughter's trip to Florida. Also for their prayers and encouragement during this ordeal. It is great being in a small town where everyone knows you and can really share in your sorrows with you. Please continue to pray for our daughter. We would especially like to thank Polly Jordan and the girls from the Main Street Beauty Salon for all of their help with our trip. Terri-Lynn had a great time. Thank you everyone from Bethel, we love you all.

Soils expert OKs CPS runoff plans

By WENDY HANSCOM

Erosion control and water runoff at the Crescent Park School expansion site was debated once again at Thursday's public hearing on the $4.9 million addition.

So far, Superintendent Dewaine Craig estimates the district has spent more than $10,000 addressing possible water control problems at the site.

Earlier this year at the district's expense, the Bethel Planning Board hired Ross Cudlitz of Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District to evaluate SAD 44's water control plan. He told the board Thursday that he had approved the district's plan.

Cudlitz also told the dozen people at Thursday night's public hearing that once the school's runoff control system is in place, less water will probably go into the surrounding area's natural drainage system.

At the hearing, John Bayerlein said he has lived on Mason Street for nine years and had no problems with water runoff until the construction of Bethel Park Apartments. He said his driveway had been washed away twice in the past few years.

Bayerlein said he was worried the project would put more water into the woods behind the apartment complex and his house, which might add to the existing flooding problems.

"There are substantial flows coming down into this region that aren't related to this project," Cudlitz replied. "I think you would be hard pressed to measure what this project would do in those woods."

Cudlitz and Craig stressed that a series of culverts, detention ponds and drains had been designed to control runoff. "We plan to follow the specifications on the plan as tightly as possible," Craig said.

Cudlitz said the district's plan also included alternatives to correct any unforeseen water control problems, such as increasing the depth of the retention pond on the easterly side of the project near the apartment complex.

At the end of the meeting, Planning Board Chairman Frank Vogt asked Bayerlein how he felt about the plan.

"After talking to (Cudlitz) here tonight, I feel better," Bayerlein said. "I'm supportive of the project now. As for some of my concerns, we'll wait and see what happens."

Vogt said the planning board had 30 days to decide whether or not to approve the district's site plan application.

The board will probably vote on the application at its April 13 meeting, he said.

Planners approve two Rt. 26 expansions

By DUANE HAYES

The Bethel Planning Board approved two site plan applications last week and tabled a third until the developer, Carl Hansen, can present the proposal in person.

The first of two applications approved was presented by Sherm Small representing the Bethel Alliance Church on Route 26 across from Telstar High School.

Small said the church wishes to build a 48-by-96-foot addition on the existing structure.

"This will be connected to the main building by an 18-foot square area," Small said, "and we have planned for 80 parking spaces in the parking lot to take care of the additional seats this will add to the church."

He went on to say that as there are no guidelines regarding churches in the Bethel Site Plan Ordinance the building committee simply used the paragraphs referring to parking at restaurants. "These regulations call for three seats per parking space and we are looking at about 240 to 250 seats," he said.

The board approved the application pending written notification of financial capability. Although the bank has approved the church's loan, the final paperwork has not yet been completed.

Also approved was an application to build a 32-by-40-foot, two-story addition on the Unicorn Flower Shop on Route 26.

The two-story space will house two retail areas in the first floor and an apartment above.

Shop owner Anne Friedlander said she had received approval on an earlier application but it expired when she ran out of funds and was unable to construct the addition.

She now has the approval of a loan from her bank and is anxious to begin.

The application was approved unanimously and the finding of facts were waived as there was no change from the original request.

The third application was from developer Carl Hansen, who was unable to be present at last week's meeting due to illness.

Hansen was seeking Planning Board approval to build a one-family house on speculation near Bob's Bed and Breakfast in Bethel. Hansen stated by phone earlier in the day that he planned to have his office in the dwelling and use it as a demonstration home for potential buyers.

Board member Dennis Doyon asked, "Is the building going to be used to sell buildings for his subdivision in East Bethel? If so it should be so noted in writing."

Board Chairman Frank Vogt answered, "I don't know if that is the reason or not, but I do feel we can't do much with this until Carl can be here to fill us in."

It was agreed unanimously to pass over the item until the next meeting on April 13.

The final action taken at Wednesday's meeting was to change the date of the next Planning Board meeting from April 14 to April 13 as Bethel Planning Assistant Nancy Schlieper will be attending classes on the evening of the regular date.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, April 1, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Featured speaker for the evening will be Dr. Lowell E. Barnes, who will make a presentation titled, "Some Sunday River Stories."

Born in Norway in 1924, Dr. Barnes is the great-grandson of the famed fiddler Mellie Dunham. Educated at Fryeburg Academy and Colby College, he served three years in the South Pacific with the Navy Commandos. After his service, he attended the Des Moines School of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery, graduating with distinction. He interned in a large hospital in Columbus, Ohio.

For years Dr. Barnes has hunted and fished in the Sunday River Valley, where his family has deep ties. From his earliest days, he has heard Sunday River stories told by longtime residents. It is some of these that Dr. Barnes will be sharing with the Society on Thursday evening.

Anyone interested in hearing what promises to be a lively humorous session is cordially invited to attend.

LOOKING BACK

10 years ago: Plans were underway for the reconstruction of Meadow Brook Bridge (at the end of the West Bethel Flat Road). The top four students at Telstar Regional High School were Daniel Sean Kersey, Teresa Lee Blake, Thomas Leon Verrill, and Leslie Sue Olson. Roger Smith and Eric Hastings were winners of the Pole, Paddle, and Paw competition at Sunday River Inn. Births: Adam Parker, Chad Barrett, Ryan Lichtenstein. Deaths: Clarence Todd, Ervin Mills, Richard Pitts, Marion Mayhew.

20 years ago: The Girl Scouts broke all records in Bethel by selling 178 cakes (1,780 boxes) of cookies. Birth: Dawn Melchin. Deaths: Addie Smith, Alice Millett, William Crosbie.

30 years ago: The three apartment Main Street home of Harvey and Barbara Sweetser was destroyed in a flash fire lasting less than an hour. Harvey's Restaurant next door was gutted as well by the fire, with all contents destroyed. Riverside Farms in Mayville began store milk deliveries in new plastic-coated paper milk cartons. Birth: Robert Ferguson. Marriage: Carol Keoskie and Edward White. Deaths: Robert Clough, Edwin Morrill, Lester Irvine, LeRoy Abbott.

40 years ago: The Androscoggin River went on its wildest rampage since 1936. Families at Skillingston and Mayville were evacuated; water was over the Bridge Street Bridge; motors were removed from the Richard Davis Mill. Deaths: Elton Dunham, Edward Billings.

50 years ago: Sgt. Sidney Howe was in a hospital in North Africa. Restrictions on the sale of barbed wire and poultry netting were lifted. Ada Connor (Cummings) was elected president of the Ways and Means Club. Birth: Lorraine Curtis.

budget, arguing that the selectmen's proposal of $8,000 was too much money. But a motion to cut the department's funding by $5,000 was defeated 14 to 2.

Another motion to appropriate the original $8,000 was approved. The only articles voted down were $1,000 for membership in the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments and $50 each for the Maine Publicity Bureau and the Maine Consumer Action Organization.

Voters approved $9,000 for insurance; $6,790 for officers' salaries; $2,000 for ambulance service; $20,500 for roads, bridges and snow removal; $4,171 to purchase a rock rake and $4,000 for maintenance to municipal buildings.

Elections
Clifford York moderated Monday's meeting.

Mike Nadeau ran unopposed for Elton Cole's seat on the Board of Selectmen. "The reason I'm running for the board is to give it the balance of a young perspective to the old one now," Nadeau said. He joins selectmen Percy Monk and Leon Poland, Jr.

Margaret Hand was reelected to a three-year term on the SAD 44 Board of Directors. She ran unopposed.

T.L. Magee also ran unopposed for the school board. He will replace Katherine McDonnell, who is stepping down after her appointment last year to a one-year term.

Voters also reelected Olive Risko to a another three-year term on the Whitman Memorial Library Board of Trustees.

COUNTY DEMS TO MEET
The Oxford County Democratic Committee will meet on Thursday, April 8, at the Oxford County Courthouse, 26 Western Avenue, in South Paris.

All interested Democrats are invited to attend. For further information, contact Warren Richardson at 925-1512.

From the Riley Police log:

Riley residents riot on roadblock; backyard business blows up

Tuesday afternoon, police were called to the Riley/Newry town line to break up a reported riot. Several Riley residents have been staked out for several days behind a barricade at the town line (see related story, page 1). But Police Chief Sonny Green said the fighting broke up before he arrived--"when they got word the State Police were on the way. There ain't been no state boys in town since the great porcupine invasion of '69, when my dad was Chief--and we'd certainly like to see those guys in here as little as possible."

Chief Green said the rioting started when several residents started tipping over ice houses that had recently been hauled off the Sunday River to behind the barricade line.

"Things were getting pretty ripe in some of them houses," the Chief said. "These boys have been staked out here for quite some time and the beer cans and take-out Chinese food cartons were beginning to get gamey. Those houses out back are powerful rank too." Green said everything was in order before he left.

The Riley police have done nothing so far to break up the town-line blockade. "Ain't nobody but them folks up to the mountain that have complained," Green said. "Anyway, we've promised to stop charging lost skiers discount preadmission tickets."

In other police news last week, late Saturday afternoon, police were called to a reported explosion, near selectman Bingo Green's A-frame. Green, a life-long Riley resident who has reportedly amassed a fortune selling his "Grandma's Medicine" to the natives, refused to let his Police Chief son or local firefighters onto the property.

"Let her burn," Bingo Green told a Citizen reporter at the scene last week. "I've got plenty of corn, and potato peels in the basement and Brooks Bros. sells all the stuff I need to get the lab juiced up again."

Police Chief Green's only reply to the incident was, "My Dad pays his taxes. We ain't got no zoning up here yet. What he does on his property is his business."

Monday, police were called to haul away a pile of rubble found near the Riley village. Police suspect Newry residents have been dumping their white goods, construction debris and tires in Riley instead of paying Bethel the $10,000 stump dump availability fee.

Riley officials, however, have traditionally accepted the practice. "You can do some real interesting things with that freon," the elder Green said.

Tuesday morning, Ma Joad of Pa's Wine and Bait Shoppe reported the theft of several packages of rolling papers.

Tuesday afternoon police responded to a complaint of juveniles smoking "something funny" near Twin Bridges. Police confiscated three corn-cob pipes, rolling papers and a small baggy of "green stuff." Chief Green said the Maine State Crime Laboratory reported the baggy contained well seasoned "but still suspect in my opinion" pine needles. A lengthy investigation is planned, he said.

cross-country skiers pole, paddling and pawing their way up the valley.

"It's wall-to-wall Bud Light kegs and florescent lycra buns down there," said one shaken resident who had just returned from down valley.

"Sure, we might be a little bit paranoid," Green acknowledged as he counted out birdshot, "but with neighbors like ours, paranoia is heightened awareness."

The great road rip-off

Ironically, the township's defensive preparations were greatly aided by an unlikely ally--the Maine state bureaucracy.

Much of the township lies in Maine Public Lands domain, and all roads on the Riley Public Lands were torn up by the state last summer--making it far more difficult for attackers to press their assault up the valley.

"And they'll have to come along the roads," Colli said, "'Cause the growers have the woods so booby trapped a squirrel couldn't get through."

Rileyites had bitterly protested the road rip-up at the time, but state officials insisted the money being used for road maintenance was more urgently needed by the Moose Avoidance Project of the Maine Department of Transportation.

MAP was one of many (so-far-unsuccessful) efforts by Augusta to reduce the number of moose-vehicle accidents.

The state's latest strategy involved genetically altering the DNA of Maine's moose population in such a way that future mooselets would all be born with reflecting tape grafted onto their shoulders and haunches--making them easier for drivers to spot in the dark. (The project has also received funding from the Sportsmen's Alliance of Maine)

The grafting was a technical success, but implementation was held up, first by squabbling within the state Department of Education over which elementary school would be allowed to design the pattern of the reflecting tape; then later by Gov. McKernan's insistence that the right to the reflecting pattern be auctioned off to corporations for placing their logos.

"It would make hiking more like a real sport--like going to a Virginia Slims tournament and seeking all those neat names," the Gov. said. "And, besides, we really need the money."

Frenchie, we hardly knew ye

The Town Meeting vote to take arms against Newry was unanimous, and was preceded by yet another rare show of township solidarity--agreement to rename the popular "Frenchman's Hole" watering spot.

Nearly all residents of the township are listeners of rock station WBLM--which is blasted into the valley (to jam WTOS) from a transmitter on Sunday River Tower 18.

To a person, the Rileyites were saddened and outraged by untimely demise of "Frenchie"--the dimwitted comic character guilottined by the politically hyper-correct.

"A mob of whiners and grievance collectors may have lopped his noggin," a tearful Herb Brown said, "but they can never kill his demeaning spirit. I say we should immortalize Frenchie by naming our finest natural attraction after him."

Various possible names were floated, including "Frenchies Falls" and "La Buff Frenchie." But Boston Celtic fan Fuddy Bean--recalling that superstar Larry Bird hailed from a town in Indiana named French Lick--suggested that Riley could honor both recently retired greats by

From the Bethel Police log:

Theft report leads to OUI arrest

Thursday evening, police responded to a Red Top Truck Stop employee's report of a customer failing to pay for diesel fuel. On route to the store, police attempted to stop the reported customer, Dwight York 40, of Bryant Pond. Police pursued York along Route 26 from Gaudreau's Repair to the Bethel/Locke Mills line. York eventually pulled over and was charged with failure to stop for an officer, speeding 67 m.p.h. in a 50 m.p.h. zone, theft and arrested of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of an intoxicating substance, according to the police report. York was transported to Oxford County Jail.

renaming the swimming spot "Frenchies' Lick."

Voters unanimously agreed.

"I'm sure they'll both be tickled pink," Fuddy said, "and it might draw some more tourists."

Voters also agreed, by acclamation, that given the importance of the season to local agriculturists, the township-wide blackout would not apply to well screened gro-lights.

With residents faced with a common enemy, there were no instances Saturday of acrimonious outbursts that had marred previous Town Meetings--most fueled by hostility between long-term residents, many of whose families have lived in the valley for generations; and New Age blow-ins, who began fluttering to earth (trust funds intact) in Riley during the late '60s.

In fact, the only disagreement at the meeting was in regard to the make up of the town war council. The old timers initially insisted that membership on the council be restricted to those with proven survival skills: military combat veterans and people who skied on weekends.

But at the insistence of newcomers it was eventually decided to add one pacifist and one witch. It was also agreed that at least half the members of the war council would be persons of gender.

Never surrender!

Caught, as they are, between the Scylla of Newry's tax anorexia and the Charybdis of Sunday River's Manifest Destiny, the Riley defenders know in their hearts that the sun is rapidly setting on the peaceful life they've known in the valley.

Green, a Western Civ major before smogging himself out of college, was philosophical. "The Tide of History is, like, inexorable," he said. "One epoch you're at the bottom of a glacier, the next the bottom of a snowmaking pond."

"But now we've drawn our line in the mud--Riley won't go back under without a fight!"

Do You Owe Payroll Taxes?

This article is brought to you by Jane D. Gray, CPA

The recent flap over Zoe Baird and her failure to pay payroll taxes on her household help has many taxpayers wondering and worrying about the tax requirements on their own household workers.

Here's what the IRS requires. If you pay wages of $50 or more per quarter to anyone for performing services in your home, you are required to pay FICA (social security and medicare) taxes of 15.3% on the wages. You should require the worker to pay half the taxes (7.65%), but if you don't want to withhold the employee's share from the wages you pay him or her, you are responsible for the total of 15.3%. If you pay a household worker more than $1,000 a quarter, you are also responsible for federal unemployment tax.

If the services are not provided in your home or if the provider is an independent contractor, you're not considered an employer and are not subject to these requirements. If you engage an agency or service who provides workers to perform services for you (and the agency hires, fires, and pays the workers), it is generally the agency's responsibility to take care of payroll taxes.

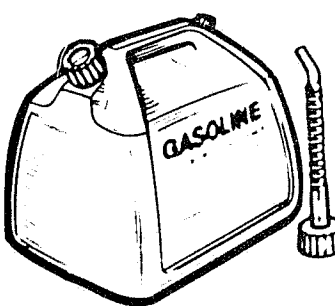

Many household workers actually prefer that payroll taxes be ignored because their take home pay is higher. However, your failure to comply with the law may come to light when a worker applies for unemployment or social security benefits. You could be liable for back taxes along with interest charges and penalties.

It is expected that 1993 tax legislation will probably include simplification of the paperwork required in this area. In the meantime, if you need details on the requirements, please contact our office.

Pain doesn't have to rule your life.

Does chronic pain dominate your life? Do you have trouble sleeping through the night? Is it difficult concentrating on your work? Are the smallest pleasures beyond your grasp?

Chronic pain takes many forms, from disabling arthritis to headaches and back pain. Whatever the causes of pain, it can render you helpless and dependent on drugs.

If you're missing the important things in life because you're in constant pain, you can be helped.

The Pain Rehabilitation Program at Rumford Chiropractic Center can help you begin to function again.

Experts with a combined experience of over 45 years teach you ways to manage pain and get more control over your life, in a program tailored to your individual needs.

Take back your life.

By MARTA CLEMENTS

The end of the third quarter is upon us. Ranks close on Wednesday, March 31. Rank cards, or reports, will be sent home on Monday, April 12. Tuesday, April 13, is the day scheduled for parent-teacher conferences. Parents, be looking for a sign-up for conference slip.

It is the time of year for kindergarten registration. If you have a child, or know of someone who has a child who will be entering kindergarten next fall, please call the school at 674-2143, or 743-5324.

Classroom news this week will begin with the kindergarten class. They are up to the letter R in the alphabet. They are learning to count by 10s, and working on estimating in math. An April reading and math activity involves reading "The April Rabbit." It is a counting book, and they read one page a day. They are also working with lots of sorting and graphing activities. In art they are creating beautiful, colorful egg boxes. They've made stained-glass windows out of tissue paper and leprechaun potato men for St. Patrick's Day. In science they will be studying the senses and talking about texture, odor and sound. They have started the Tiger Club. Everyone is now a member of the club and is working to get the first tiger tail. They work for tiger tickets, which are awarded for all kinds of appropriate behavior. Five tickets will buy a tiger tail. The feeling of accomplishment and the satisfaction of doing well and being rewarded is excellent for their self-esteem. Everyone gets tails, and everyone helps each other to achieve this goal. This is a real morale booster for the whole class.

Mrs. Loper's first-graders are looking for spring and, believe it or not, they have found some things that are changing from winter. The temperature is rising. Snow is melting and forming puddles. March has had more sunny days than February. Lots of wind has been blowing. Birds are singing early in the morning. The children are writing stories about what spring will look like and what different activities they will be able to do soon. Their stories will be in the shape of umbrellas. They will continue working on their weather graphs and compare with past months. They are making windmills with Mrs. Baker-Rabe, our art teacher. They are learning how the wind helps to bring spring to Maine.

Our school nurse, Mrs. Whitney, visited the class and talked about good food and what we should eat each day. The children had fun planning good meals and good snacks. They found out how they get all that energy to play and learn. The class has two wonderful new maps and everyone is learning about locating states where relatives live, countries we hear about in the news.

Next on the agenda will be the study of eggs, starting an aquarium, hatching chicken eggs, building bird houses with Mr. Loper, and making eggs with Mrs. Baker-Rabe, complete with the growing chick inside.

The second- and third-graders are working hard on their castle projects. The fourth-graders have started fractions. The fifth-graders are thinking Boston. The trip is scheduled for April 2. And the sixth-graders have been having lots of fun learning about Cooperative Learning. They are planning a luncheon buffet on April 1.

Our spring Book Fair will be held during the week of April 12. It will be a buy-one-get-one-free sale. This will not be a fund-raiser for the school, but as always is intended to encourage reading.

CHAPTER ONE FESTIVAL

"Homemade Family Fun" will be featured at SAD 44's annual Chapter 1 Family Festival. The Festival is scheduled for Tuesday, April 6, in the Telstar Cafeteria from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Each spring, Chapter 1 students and their families meet to celebrate their work together during the year. Following the "homemade fun" theme, there will be a Book Swap (a feature started last year), games, a video corner for viewing and recalling Chapter 1 activities in the past two years, creativity centers, and some family math challenges. Climaxing the evening will be the homemade sundaes donated by staff and a private sponsor.

Chapter 1 students who are on regular daily programs are taking home information about the Book Swap. Each one may bring to school for the swap up to seven books (with parental consent). Their teachers will make Book Swap coupons which will be in an envelope ready to issue to them at the door.

Students who are not currently in a daily Chapter 1 program, but have been at some time since September, 1991, are invited to come to the Festival with their parents. They also may enter the Book Swap by contacting their teacher. Students who do not have books to swap may earn coupons in other ways.

Anyone having games to share, books or prizes to donate, should contact their school's Chapter 1 teacher(s) or the coordinator, Natalie Timberlake, at 824-2582.

ELEMENTARY, HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL CLINICS

The Telstar High School boys basketball team will sponsor two three-day basketball clinics on July 12-14.

A morning session, for students entering third- through seventh-grade in the fall, will run from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Telstar gymnasium.

Eighth-grade and high school students will meet in the gym from noon to 3 p.m.

Telstar high school varsity boys basketball coach Mark Thurlow said the clinics are an affordable alternative to a week at basketball camp, which can cost up to $300 per week.

The fee for the clinic is $15 per day. For more information or to sign-up call Thurlow at 674-3698 or 674-2250.

BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS BOWL FOR KIDS' SAKE

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Oxford County is holding their Fifth Annual "Super Strikes," Bowl-For-Kids'-Sake 1993 on Saturday, April 3, and Sunday, April 4.

The Big Brothers/Big Sisters Program of Oxford County is reaching more children each year since its start-up in 1990. Currently, 23 children have been matched with dedicated volunteers. These children, 7 to 14 years old, live in West Paris, Buckfield, Harrison, Norway, Otisfield, Oxford, South Paris, and Sumner.

In addition, Program Director Julie Hart has started a high school mentoring program in Bethel, and she also supervises a program designed to keep children on our waiting list connected by group activities. This program is appropriately called "Littles in Waiting."

The "Bowl-For-Kids'-Sake" is being held at the Oxford Hills Bowling Lanes, Route 26, South Paris. The activities start at 8 a.m. and end at approximately 6:30 to 7 p.m. Some of the bowling teams already in formation are from First Step/Hand in Hand, National Wood Products, Shop 'n' Save, Telstar National Honor Society, Teachers from SAD 17 and SAD 44, Schiavi Enterprises, Creative Learning Nursery School, Norway Savings, Buckfield Telephone, and Oxford Bank and Trust.

All monies raised by "Bowl-For-Kids'-Sake" supports the local Oxford County Agency located in Norway. Anyone who would like to register a team, sponsor a team, or would like more information on "Bowl-For-Kids'-Sake" or Big Brothers/Big Sisters should call 743-7035 or visit their office located at the Child Health Center, 88 Main Street, Norway.

Who invented April Fools' Day? Was it a fool? Here are a few foolish quotes for the day... "It needs brains to be a real fool"... "Better a witty fool than a foolish wit"... "Fools are apt to imitate only the defects of their betters"... "A fool may now and then be right by chance"... "Old fools are more foolish than young fools"... "Young men think old men are fools: but old men know young men are fools"... "If you wish to avoid seeing a fool, you must first break your looking glass"... "I am a fool, I know it, and yet, God help me, I am poor enough to be a wit"... "Mingle a little folly with your wisdom..."

Members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" who were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford were: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Sylvia Wight and Olive Anderson.

Rena Powers and Jim Anderson were guests. Betsy was high on the triples, but Olive who was "out of the loop" for a month or so on account of illness came back to bowl a tied score with Gil on the singles. Betsy was only one pin behind them. Betsy had three spares, Karlene two spares, Gil five spares and Olive two spares and one strike. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

"Mother Nature sure fooled us this winter."

Happy Birthday to: Kevin Wight, 4, March 8; Katie Wight, 9, March 19; Mandy Berry, 12, March 23 and Scott Berry, 7, March 14.

The Historical Society contains many different individuals who contribute to its activities. The Museum includes exhibits to appeal to everyone's taste. The Historical Society reminds you that many famous people have lived in Woodstock, including a governor of Maine, a president's daughter, an author, a conductor, an Episcopal Bishop, etc. Evelyn Bean and Eva Twitchell have both given items to the Museum. The Historical Society met on Saturday, March 20, with 19 present. Irene Mills had a display of her dolls and antique toys. It was very interesting. Earl Shuttleworth, Jr., head of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission, will speak at the April meeting, which will be held April 10. He will show slides of historic buildings in Oxford County.

Evelyn T. Bean was in Portland on Thursday to attend the funeral of Frank O. Hassell, P.G.C. of the Knights of Pythians of Maine.

Beginning Tuesday, March 30, there will be a series of ten weekly programs on Channel IV which were filmed in Bryant Pond. The first title is Woodstock Building Projects. These programs all start at 7 p.m. There will not be any of this series on April 20.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, April 1 at the Grange Hall. The Daughters of Union Veterans will serve the dinner and the program will feature Michael Perry in "Trip across the United States."

Franklin Grange 124 will meet on April 5 with Past Masters and Past Lecturers Night.

Callers on the Harris Hathaways have been Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Estes, Debbie Millett and Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Jordan.

The Universalist Church of Bryant Pond will have services starting April 4 with Rev. Earl McKinney from Gray as minister.

Heidi Shugars was around town this week delivering Girl Scout cookies that people had ordered from her. If everyone bought as many as my husband did, she should be the top saleslady!

Saturday was the first day of spring. Can you believe it? It sure doesn't look it but heard that warmer weather is coming soon. That will settle the snow.

On March 20, Albert Nelson, Jr., Bob Gilks, Jr. Jones, Gary Dean and Ellery Lawrence left Stoneham on their snowmachines and went by trails to the Nelson camp at Wilsons Mills (Lynchtown). Friday night, Eric and Troy Nelson and Charles Lawrence went by truck to Abbott Brook and snowmobiled in from there. They all reported a real good weekend. The fellows clocked the ride as being 115.7 miles with no trouble.

Molly and Matthew Nelson stayed with their grandparents over the weekend while their parents went to Portland to a Ford Motor Co. conference meeting and banquet. The wives got in some shopping while there.

On Tuesday, we went to our camp with son and wife, Albert and Carole Nelson to get some snowmobiling in. We found lots of snow and good riding.

On March 24, Jean Littlefield, Mary Grover, Kate Flynn, Eleanor Nelson and Delilah Millett, and Sharon McAllister attended the Stewardship meeting at the parsonage where Stoneham and N. Waterford members met. Rev. Janice and Everett Wilcox served a delicious supper as kind of a kick-off for the Stewardship drive. A bag will be delivered to your house with church information and instructions to help you help your church in town. They(we) need your support.

Loretta Andrews is at home from the hospital and feeling a bit better. I am sure she would like a visit and/or cards from her friends in town.

Grace Nelson is still at the Northern Cumberland Memorial Hospital in Bridgton and is doing better. She hopes to be home soon.

Dot McKeen is at the Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

Don't forget the Church Thrift Shop at the vestry on Saturday, April 3, 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the East Stoneham Congregational Church.

The week of March 16 to 22 was a birthday time for Gladys Jordan.

During the week, three of her nieces, Bessie House, Nada Sessions, and Charlotte Cole came bringing her gifts. Saturday brought nephew Everett Cole, her son Richard Jordan, wife Nathalie and her mother Mildred Swett. They took her to the restaurant in town for dinner. Sunday, March 21, was the real day. Sister Vera Cross called after church, and during the afternoon Bernice and Elwin Brown, Jr., Beatrice and Raymond Buck, Arnold Jordan, Reynold and Phyllis Jordan, grandsons Vance Jordan and Troy, wife Maryanne and children, Amanda, Heather and Tiffany all came. Bertha Flanders came on Monday. Besides her other gifts, Gladys received two pretty birthday cakes and a beautiful bouquet of red roses and many cards. If you have a loving, caring family and friends, turning 88 years young cannot be all that bad.

Georgia Packard is in Stephens Memorial Hospital with a broken hip following a fall at her home.

Charlotte Cole received another Jefferson award for playing at the nursing homes and for the shut-ins. I think this is the fourth one that she has received.

Esther Davis attended the Universalist Church Sunday and furnished the refreshments for the coffee hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews were callers on Esther and Olive Davis this week.

The Historical Society notes that "Time" magazine comments, "Names possess a peculiar indelible power. The name is an aura, a costume. The words with which people and things are named have a changeful magic."

It must be sap is running, as Lloyd Merryfield has been here about every day this week.

Our bird tray is having a lot of feeders of birds and squirrels continually.

Merle Ring worked on my income tax today. Tuesday he entered Stephens Memorial Hospital for treatment of his injured hip.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews had dinner with Esther and Olive Davis on Monday.

The snow of the great storm still lies upon the landscape all around us and is still testifying to the strength and the direction of the winds.

Today, the brilliant sun of March 22 climbed to a noontime warmth. It was a day to go out and enjoy. I did just that for an hour. I looked for color as I walked. There was of course the white and blue. But when I stopped to stare I saw more. In the landscape near at hand were both gray trees and brown together with white birches that rose above the snow. In the distance stones cast almost black shadows. The pines stood dark while withered and rusty autumn was still discoverable along edges of the fields.

I had a small adventure not far from my home. As I walked and saw the shadows of white birches on the snow, an open pool of snow-water in the road, I saw the sky above and beyond. Then as I looked the scene became transformed. The shadows which had been just shadows turned to pools of deep blue, calm and serene and the water that had been just water in a pool, became a mirror of blue; this blue being as blue as the first blue but perhaps more so and brighter. By contrast the sky beyond the pool and the winter shadows seemed greener.

The sun was bright, all was quiet and there I stood in the road staring, just staring at two of the most beautiful colors in Nature. I shall long remember this small adventure.

Shadows are one of the most interesting things of winter. Tree trunks and tree shapes, the chimney in smoke, long, dead goldenrod and even the bird feeder on a pole come with the sunrise and with the sunset they die.

Higher climbed the noonday sun. The shadows grew shorter, snow slid from the roof. We can now take storms with easier hearts. It's SPRING.

The people with snowmobiles have enjoyed themselves on the pond since the storm. There are trails and trails.

The ice fishermen have been out, too.

Dorothy Betts had to be in Portsmouth a couple of days on business.

At the farm the Holts lost their water for a couple of days, but the plumber finally found the cause and got it fixed. With a herd of cattle it becomes a serious thing.

John Betts' brother has been visiting him for a few days.

Fay Holt was ill over the weekend and Mary was, so just David came.

town adequately, but to keep taxes at a level residents could afford.

They sympathized with efforts of the selectmen to pare away at town expenses in order to offset continual increases in school tax assessments.

"We can't keep taking everything away up here, just so they can turn around and spend it down there (in the school system)," said Arnie Brown. "They don't even know there was a recession."

Budget Committee member Bob Chadbourne suggested limiting the municipal budget increase to an overall 2 percent, in order to minimize the impact of expected school tax increases.

But the restriction was too harsh for his fellow committee members, who rejected it by a vote of 5 to 4.

"We'd just end up paying more three years down the line," said Don Vatour.

SPORTS WRITER VISITS—Lewiston Sun-Journal sports writer Bob McPhee of Dixfield, left, recently shared his experiences in the work world with Crescent Park School third-graders. A football injury 17 years ago left McPhee non-verbal and in a wheelchair. Two years ago a fundraising committee raised money to purchase a Liberator computer for him. The computer gives McPhee an electronic voice. McPhee's typed in sentences are reproduced by the computer. McPhee spoke to more than 50 CPS students and stressed the importance of always having a goal to work toward. SAD 44 speech clinician Cindy Dawson, standing, organized the assembly. She works with Christopher Howard, right, who is a CPS third-grader. Dawson has spent the past five years teaching Christopher to use his Touch-Talker computer. Dawson also volunteered to help McPhee learn to use his Liberator.

KUVAJA FARM HONORED

The owners and operators of Kuvaja Farm in Greenwood were presented with the Cooperator of the Year Award during the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD), at the Annual Meeting on Feb. 25.

Eino and Marie, along with their sons, Stan and Fred operate on a farm that Eino's dad purchased about 100 years ago. Today, the farm houses about 50 holstein milkers with replacements. The milkers are averaging 20,000 plus pounds of milk a year.

By RUSSELL YATES

Howdy Folks, I was hoping for good, warm weather today, but now I wonder what it will be like as it seems to have clouded in some. A week ago today sister Peg went to do her card work, but I spent several hours clearing away snow. I still had paths to some of our out-buildings to do, also had quite a lot of snow to move so that the mailbox could get to our mailbox. I got it all cleaned out nicely by the mailbox and was patting myself on the shoulder for doing such a fine job when, low and behold, the town plow truck showed up and was pushing back the snowbanks. Well, just maybe you can guess what happened. After they went through, I had the job to do all over again. Life does have its rough moments and this was one of them. That evening we went to Franklin Grange. This meeting was celebrating St. Patrick's Day, but we forgot all about wearing anything green. Kay McAllister of Bryant Pond won first prize in the apple cake contest. I had thought of making a cake, but was too busy with the snow.

West Paris Grange will be hosting a food, craft and what-not sale at West Paris Grange Hall on May 1 from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. Tables are available for $2 each to anyone wishing to bring items to sell. For any additional details call Kathleen Holden at 674-2975.

The next two dances with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra will be held at West Paris Grange Hall on April 3 and 10.

Kathleen Holden and Mary Lovejoy visited Helena Bartlett at The Bethel House on Thursday and found her quite ill. She was to see the doctor today. Mary Lovejoy and family were in Lewiston on Friday for business and shopping.

Mary called on Tammy Farnum of Bryant Pond one day last week to pick up some Girl Scout cookies that she had ordered.

Mary reports that she and Kathleen Holden heard robins one day last week, but they couldn't see them.

Community Ski Day Sunday

Sunday, April 4, will be a SAD 44 Community Ski Day at Sunday River Ski Resort.

The resort will offer free lift tickets, free rentals and, for anyone 13 years of age and older, Guaranteed Learn to Ski (level one only). If anyone should want any other clinics (children or adult), these will have to be paid for. There will be no breaks on meals or food. No lunch is provided.

This Community Day is open to anyone residing in the boundaries of the SAD #44. The schools are Andover Elementary, Crescent Park, Telstar Middle School, Woodstock Elementary School and Telstar High School. Student listings of each school will be checked at the window. Adults will need to show some form of identification (i.e., driver's license) to distinguish them as a resident of the area. Their license should show them as a resident of Albany, Andover, Bethel, Bryant Pond (Woodstock), Gilead, Locke Mills (Greenwood), Newry or West Bethel.

Students of Gould Academy should be prepared to show their valid student identification cards.

Just Imagine Coffee House

April 3 at The Just Imagine Coffee House the audiences will once again be entertained by Maine humorist and storyteller, Joe Perham. The West Paris native will surely have new stories to share, as well as those familiar ones that we always love to hear. Complementing the beginning of the evening will be the music of Douglas Clegg. This Californian turned New Englander brings to his audience reflective original songs accompanied by guitar and fiddle.

The Just Imagine Coffee House is held in the lower meeting room of the West Parish Congregational Church which is located near the campus of Gould Academy. The doors open just before 7 p.m. There is always time set aside for drop-in talent. A donation of $3 is requested at the door ($1.50 seniors and under 12).

In case of inclement weather, the Coffee House will be canceled.

Brewing Company donates $5,000 to Project Opportunity

The Sunday River Brewing Company has donated $5,000 to the Project Opportunity Scholarship/Grant Fund.

The fund, established in 1988 by Sunday River Ski Resort, benefits Telstar High School students. With a long-term fundraising goal of $400,000, Project Opportunity is designed to provide annual scholarships and other educational grants to SAD 44 students through interest earned on the fund's principal. Sunday River Brewing Company's contribution brings the fund total to approximately $190,000.

Sunday River Brewing Company, a business newcomer to the Bethel area, opened in December of 1992.

Pole, Paddle and Paw Saturday

The staff of Sunday River Inn & Cross-Country Ski Center are making frequent trips to the Sunday River itself these days, hoping to encourage the ice to melt in time for the fifteenth Annual April Fool's Pole, Paddle and Paw Race scheduled for Saturday, April 3. According to Steve Wight, "There hasn't been any flooding this winter on the river, so ice isn't piled 12-feet high on the turns like it is some years. With recent warm weather, we hope the river will clear and that the snow melt won't increase the flow to unsafe levels."

The race, called by Wight a "season transition triathlon," is being sponsored again this year by Stowe Canoe and Snowshoe Company, makers of Tubbs snowshoes. Racers, who traditionally appear in costume, will cross-country ski from Sunday River Inn to the Artists' Covered Bridge, canoe approximately three miles down the river, and then snowshoe to the finish line back at the Inn. The event celebrates the end of the cross-country ski season and the opening of the canoe season in the area.

"We began the race in 1979 as a season-end party," says Wight. "We are thrilled to have Stowe Canoe sponsor the race. They give us national exposure through their race series promotion, and they are very generous with prizes." Winners of various categories of the event will receive snowshoe furniture, snowshoes, and other accessories.

As always, spectators will have as much fun as contestants at the event. Best vantage points are the start/finish line at Sunday River Inn, the Monkey Brook Road Crossing, the covered bridge, and the Sunday River Road crossing. At the conclusion of the race there will be a party with refreshments free to participants and available to spectators for a modest fee.

Start time for the race is 1:30 p.m. For information and race applications call Sunday River Cross-Country Ski Center at 824-2410.

PUBLIC NOTICE Municipality of West Paris, ME 1993 Assessors' Notice

In accordance with Title 36, M.R.S.A. Sec. 706, as amended, the Assessors of the Municipality of West Paris, Maine hereby give notice to all persons liable to taxation in said municipality, that they will be in session at The West Paris Town Office in said municipality, on the 1st day of April, 1993, at 9:00 AM to 12:30 PM & 1:30 to 4:30 PM for the purpose of revising lists of the estates taxable in said municipality.

Owners

All persons liable to taxation in the Municipality of West Paris, Maine and all Personal Representatives, Trustees, etc., of all estates taxable in said municipality of such persons are hereby notified to furnish to THE ASSESSORS TRUE AND PERFECT LISTS OF ALL THEIR ESTATES, REAL AND PERSONAL, not by law exempt from taxation, of which they were possessed on the first day of April 1993, and be prepared to make oath to the truth of the same and to answer all proper inquiries in writing as to the nature, situation and value of their property liable to be taxed.

Estates Distributed

And when estates of persons deceased have been distributed during the past year, or have changed hands from any cause, the Personal Representative, or other persons interested, are hereby warned to give notice of such change, and in default of such notice will be held under the law to pay the tax assessed although such estate has been wholly distributed and paid over.

Persons Doomed

And any person who neglects to comply with this notice is hereby barred to his right to make application to the ASSESSORS or any appeal therefrom, for any abatement of his taxes, unless he furnishes such list with his application and satisfies them that he was unable to furnish it at the time appointed.

Blank schedules will be furnished at the Assessor's Office on application.

Obituaries

GERTRUDE B. HARRINGTON

Gertrude B. Harrington, 89, died March 23, 1993, at her home on Country Club Road, North Berwick.

She was born at West Greenwood May 10, 1903, the daughter of Michael and Ellen Driscoll Harrington. She graduated from Gould Academy in Bethel and Machias Normal School. Miss Harrington was a school teacher and had served in the Women's Army Corps during World War II. She was a former member of local and state teachers associations.

Miss Harrington is survived by a sister, Mrs. Nellie Capillon of Attleboro, Mass., and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held March 27 at 1:30 p.m. at Greenleaf Funeral Home. Burial was in the Irish Neighborhood Cemetery, Greenwood.

Mary Lorry Cole, 88, of Bridge St., Gilead, died March 13 1993 at Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center in Lebanon, N.H. after a short illness.

She was born in Dummer, N.H., Aug. 16, 1904, daughter of David and Flora (Parker) Lorry. Mrs. Cole lived in Gilead for many years and moved to Northfield, N.H., to live with her daughter during her illness.

She was a housewife. She earned her high school diploma from Adult Education at Telstar Regional High School in June of 1982 at the age of 77. She was a 73-year member of the Grange in Milan, N.H. and Gilead and a member of Winthrop Grange in Shelburne, N.H. During that time, she held offices in the Subordinate Grange. She was also a member of the Northern New Hampshire Pomona Grange and the State and National Granges. She was treasurer of the Gilead Library Association and the Oxford County Mineral and Gem Association of Bethel. She was a past member of Gilead Women's Club and a member of Bethel Nazarene Church. She was the widow of Clifford Cole, who died in 1984.

Mrs. Cole is survived by two daughters, Sandra F. Laughy of Northfield, N.H. and Mary C. Tyler of Tilton, N.H.; two sons, Merle Cole, Sr. of Berlin, N.H. and Daniel Cole of Gilead; eight grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; a brother, Eldred Lorry of Milan, N.H.; two sisters, Dorothy Prescott of Lancaster, N.H., and Vena Baillargeon of West Milan, N.H.

Funeral services were held Sunday, March 28, at 2 p.m. at the Greenleaf Funeral Home. Burial will be in the spring in Gilead Cemetery. Expressions of sympathy may be made to the Franklin Visiting Nurses Association, P.O. Box 65, Franklin, N.H. 03235.

CARD OF THANKS

Once in a while if you are fortunate, you may meet a person as kind, gentle, unselfish and polite as Dick Bryant. His quiet and pleasant demeanor made being around him a pleasure.

Over the years, I knew him as a co-worker, hunting, fishing and canoeing companion and, NEEDLESS TO SAY, A CHERISHED FRIEND. In every walk in life he would without exception carry more than his end of the load.

Dick was not only a husband, father and brother. He was a businessman, a historian and a veteran. Throughout his lifetime he was generous of his time and support to his Fraternity and Church. He was a staunch advocate for his lifetime home town of Bethel and held in highest esteem his family's history in this community.

He enjoyed quiet times listening to classical music and reading. On any cold blustery winter eve he could build the tastiest oyster stew to ever slide past your palate. These were indeed memorable times.

All of us who knew Dick realize that our lives have been enriched and blessed by his presence.

A Friend

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks to all my friends and family for the many visits, flowers, calls, prayers and many cards I received while in the hospital.

Thank you to the Bethel Ambulance personnel for their help.

Thanks to all the nurses for their care and to Dr. LaCombe and others in the Internal Medicine Group.

A special thanks to Rev. Mark Hatfield for his visits and prayers. Also, thanks to all my family and friends who have sent in the delicious food since I have been home. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

I didn't know there were so many caring people.

Bless you all
Kathleen Kennagh

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Richard Bryant wish to express sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for the consideration and thoughtfulness extended to us during our recent loss. For all the comforting cards, flowers, phone calls, gifts of food and other expressions of sympathy, we are most grateful. Also, special thanks to the Greenleaf Funeral Home, The Reverends Brendon and Jean Bass, Dr. Stanley Howe, and the ladies of the West Parish Congregational Church for their participation and generous support.

In grateful appreciation,
Barbara Bryant
Susan and Jeffery Leighton and Family
Carolyn and John Forbes

IN LOVING MEMORY

In memory of Irene Wilson
A special Person
Another year has gone by since God called you home.

Your words I still hear
Your smile I still see
Memories I still cherish
The tears I still wipe
I was blessed to have had you as a true friend who truly knew the meaning of the word caring.

A close friend

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank our Fire Chief, Ken Dixon, and his wife Alice, Elaine Mortin, Carrol Morton, Butch Glover and all those that I don't know their names that helped save my life.

Also, the Rumford Med-Care unit and Dr. Albert Aniel and the Emergency Room staff at Rumford Community Hospital. Also, in I.C.C.U. all the staff there especially Stephanie Cohen and Mrs. Sylvia Goodman who performed over and beyond the call of duty at Rumford Community Hospital.

Thanks Again

Is Church Just for Emergencies?

Certainly the church is for such times. When tragedy strikes, we'd like to help.

But we're far more than an "emergency ward."

We're here for the everyday hassles and trials of life - because that's where we all live. "Little" things can get you down just as much as the "big" emergencies.

We all need inner strength to live in today's pressure-packed world. We need each other - we need to sense that we don't have to face the pressures of life alone.

Most of all, we need to know how to be in touch with a personal God who really cares about us.

Why not join us this Sunday and, among friendly people just like you, share in getting to know a loving Heavenly Father who really does care - when there are emergencies and when we hurt.

We care about You!

GUESS WHO'S 50!

CAN CHIROPRACTIC HELP ME?

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

We are often asked "What's the best way of finding out whether or not a doctor of chiropractic can help my problem?" We believe the answer can be found in a complete chiropractic consultation and examination including x-rays. And to help you find out for sure, we will do a complete chiropractic consultation and examination, including x-rays (procedures may normally cost $110.00 or more) for $25.00
